Kingston Couple Sees Pictures of Sain Earl Young Tuesday Night at Lebanon, Pa., and Says He Was Man

Sheriff to Get Sample of Cord From Authorities — Miss Smith Convinces Officials

Positive identification of Earl Young, 23 year old Lebanon, Pa., desperado, as the man who kidnapped Jason Carle, Jr., 20, and Miss Marjorie Smith, 19, on June 24, was made last night by both Carle and Miss Smith at Lebanon, Pa., where the couple had been taken by Sheriff Abram Molyneux, for the purpose of viewing Young's body, which had been shipped to his home from Hot Springs, Ark., where he died Friday from wounds inflicted by police.

Identification was made from photographs of Young and was so positive and convincing that neither Sheriff Molyneux nor Sheriff Harry C. Koller of Lebanon county believed it was necessary for the young couple to visit the morgue where Young's body lay.

Young escaped from Lebanon jail May 18 last and since that time is believed to have perpetrated many crimes in various parts of the country, at least three similar to the attack here being attributed to him. He was being looked for in connection with a kidnapping and rape case at Hutchinson, Kansas, on June 15, and the attack and murder of a young girl in South Dakota. There is also possibility that he was involved in an attack on a young woman and her escort at Louisville, Ky.

Positive identification of him as the man who held up and robbed an Albany gas station on June 26 has been made and there are numerous cases of hold-ups along the highways, one of them being a motorcycle cop.

Molyneux Satisfied
Sheriff Molyneux, who returned home at 4 o'clock this morning after the grueling trip to Lebanon, Pa., appeared to be greatly gratified at the outcome of his journey. He told a Freeman reporter that no doubt had been left in his mind nor in that of Sheriff Harry C. Koller of Lebanon county, Pa., that Earl Young, a former resident of Lebanon, was the man who had perpetrated the atrocious assault upon Miss Smith on the early morning of June 24.

Prepared to Visit Morgue
The sheriff said that he left Kingston at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg and Miss Smith and Carle. They arrived in Lebanon, Pa., at 8 p. m., prepared to visit the morgue in which lay the body of Young, who had died shortly after being shot by Hot Springs, Ark., police last Friday.

However, Sheriff Koller said, "I have some pictures of Young, taken when he was committed to jail last March." The pictures were produced and shown to Miss Smith, who immediately exclaimed, "that positively is the man."

Pictures of Man
The pictures are those of a man with receding forehead, eyes set well apart but with the lids saving a partly closed effect, thick lips, the upper lip being rather short, with a rather distinctive cheek line. Miss Smith noticed these features, as she looked at the picture and made her positive identification of Young as the man who had attacked her.

Voice Sounds Similar
Sheriff Molyneux asked Miss Smith to tell Sheriff Koller exactly how Young talked and acted on the night he accosted her and Carle and forced the latter to drive them to a lonely road near Lake Katrine. She proceeded to do so and when she had concluded Sheriff Koller commented, "That is exactly right."

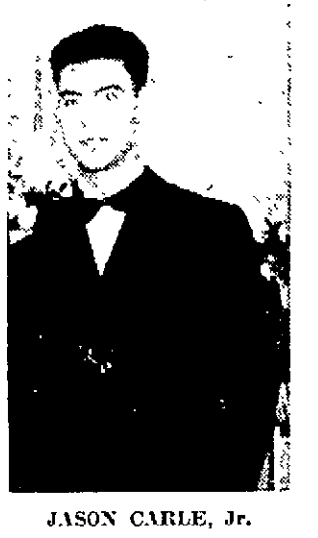

The sheriff said that Young spoke in a soft tone of voice, with what might easily be mistaken for a southern accent. He added that his manner of speaking and his distinctive appearance was such that he could "tell him out of a million." He said that, knowing Young so well, he was convinced that the man described by Miss Smith and the identification she had made of the pictures shown to her had convinced him Young was the man who committed the attack.

Corroborates Story
Carle also corroborated Miss Smith's story and he, too, positively identified the pictures shown as those of the man who had made the attack.

Other marks of identification that were brought out were Young's height, his complexion and color of his hair and the fact that he wore a felt hat. Sheriff

Miss Smith, Carle Tell of Looking At Young Photos

At her home this morning Miss Marjorie Smith told a Freeman reporter that identification of Earl Young had been positively made as the man who kidnapped her and Jason Carle on the night of June 24.

"The identification was made from photographs and was positive," said Miss Smith. "I don't think I have anything else to add," she said.

On the night of June 24, Miss Smith said, she had seen enough of the man's face to make it possible for her to identify the photographs shown to her at Lebanon, Pa.

Credits Agencies
Jason Carle, Jr., said "I give all credit to the offices of the sheriff and the district attorney. I think they did fine work."

When asked who had furnished the lead concerning Young, Carle said it came from the sheriff. "Did the sheriff's office have any pictures of Young?" Carle was asked.

"No, we had to go to Lebanon to see them," he said. When asked whether identification of Young was made from the body in the morgue or pictures, Carle said they saw only pictures.

"Would it be possible that there was any reasonable doubt about the identification, since you saw only pictures?" the Freeman representative asked Carle.

"We had no doubts," Carle said.

Question of Doubt
When it was explained to Carle that perhaps public reaction to the actual identification might be in doubt, since Miss Smith and Carle saw only pictures and not the slain man's body, Carle said there could be no doubt.

"In the event that at any time any new information might be obtained which would reopen the investigation, would you be willing to cooperate with the sheriff's office or the police?" he was asked.

"But there is no doubt," Carle insisted.

When the question was rephrased for him Carle said he would be glad to cooperate.

"Didn't you have a chance to look at the body, or was it that you didn't care to go to the morgue?" Carle was asked.

"The body hadn't arrived," he said.

Colonel Meagher Heads Michael School

Principal of School No. 5 Appointed Tuesday Evening by Board of Education

Boyd to No. 5

Ambrose J. Boyd and Raymond Rignall Advanced by Trustees

Col. Frank L. Meagher, principal of No. 5 School since September, 1900, was appointed Tuesday evening by the board of education to the principalship of the new Myron J. Michael School, which will open this fall. Col. Meagher was appointed principal of No. 5 School in September, 1900, and has served continuously since that date except for a period between September, 1917, and June, 1919, when he was on leave of absence for military duty.

Prior to assuming his duties as principal of Public School No. 5 here he had taught the village schools at Whiteport and at Fish Creek, town of Saugerties. In addition to serving as principal of No. 5 School Col. Meagher has held the position of principal of the Kingston Evening School since the resignation of the late Patrick H. Cullen. Prior to that Col. Meagher had been an instructor in the evening school.

Man of Broad Experience
During the time Col. Meagher served as principal of No. 5 school he took numerous extension courses and his qualifications for his new position have been highly approved by the State Department of Education. Among the institutions he has taken extension courses are Columbia University, University of Washington and the University of Chicago. He is also a graduate of the Field Officers course of the New York State National Guard and has taken in all 28 courses in the Regular Army schools. These courses cover a very broad field and many subjects.

This morning Col. Meagher stated that he was pleased to know that the Board of Education of the city had confidence in his ability to appoint him to the important position of first principal of the new school.

Boyd, Rignall Advance
To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Col. Meagher the board has appointed Ambrose J. Boyd, principal at No. 1 school, to No. 5 school. Mr. Boyd prior to coming to Kingston had seven years work in rural schools and came first to Kingston as assistant principal at School No. 6 where he taught the 8th grade. On November 1, 1933 he was appointed principal at No. 1 school. Mr. Boyd is a graduate of New Paltz Normal School, has a degree of B. S. from Fordham University and has taken several extension courses at New York University from which he recently was granted a Master of Arts degree.

Raymond Rignall, who has been assistant principal at No. 6 School for the past five years, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Boyd as principal at No. 1 School. Mr. Rignall is a graduate of New York University and since coming to No. 6 as assistant principal has taken several extension courses.

Citizens to Vote on Power Five-Year Court Fight to End in November

By GEORGE R. LOVEYS

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—Five years' controversy over whether municipally-owned gas, electric and water plants may operate at a profit headed today for settlement by the people.

Constitutional convention delegates voted last night to submit to the November electorate a proposal permitting municipally-owned utilities to use profits to pay municipal expenses along with another writing the state's first constitutional article on taxation, providing among other things that undistributed profits are exempt from taxation.

This brought to 24 the number of proposals thus far adopted for submission to the people. Other rapid-fire developments as leaders accelerated proceedings on a three-sessions-a-day schedule.

Advancement to order of final action, assuring eventual adoption, of a proposal providing for permanent registration of voters—major feature of a republican-drafted suffrage clause.

Rejection of a Democratic measure which would have required the Legislature to enact laws for uniformity of personal registration, opposed by Republicans on the ground it would "cut down the rural vote by about 200,000 ballots."

Democrats obtained a postponement until next Tuesday in debate on the Republican-authored measure realigning Senate and Assembly districts in order to draft a plan of their own.

Defeat of a proposal, admittedly aimed at Nazis and Communists, which would have forbidden military training by any group outside the state militia. Advancement for a final vote of measures requiring members of the Legislature to be residents of the state for five years; striking out from the oath of office a declaration that the official has not accepted bribes and permitting any committee of a political party to provide for equal representation of the sexes.

Preparation of an amendment to the $300,000,000 low cost housing proposal to provide partial protection to real estate against additional taxation by requiring tapping of other taxation sources before resorting to real estate.

Convention disposition of the municipally owned utilities problem, contrary to views of Democratic Governor Lehman, puts it squarely up to the people after five years in the courts.

U. S. Gold Larc Brings Woe to Italian Family

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—An Italian woman and her son petitioned Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau for aid today to save their life savings—two gold bricks—from seizure.

Because Italy forbids taking money out of the country, Mrs. Virginia Venturoli and her son, Robert, invested their savings, $1,254, in two gold bricks and passed through Italian customs.

Upon arrival in the United States Mrs. Venturoli attempted to cash the bricks at the Federal Reserve Bank and found her savings hopelessly enmeshed in the United States law. United States Marshal William J. Reardon seized the bricks and questioning developed Mrs. Venturoli had not declared the gold at U. S. customs because she thought it was "just the same as money and did not need to be declared."

United States Attorney George L. Grobe started a libel action to seize the gold as required by law.

"It is really a pitiful case," Grobe asserted. "The bricks are all the money they have."

First Model of New Product by Uniuroast Coffee Corp. Exhibited at Craft's Market—Device May Form Basis of New Industry in This City, Is Report Today

Apollo Magneto Corp. Involved

Report Says Machine on View One of First 10 Made and That Apollo Magneto Corp. Is Constructing Concern—Popularity Predicted

The first model of a new product which is expected to form the basis of a new industry in Kingston was on exhibit today in Craft's Super Food Market, 59 O'Neil street.

The device which is encased in a cabinet resembling a refrigerator roasts coffee while the customer waits and it is a product of the Uniuroast Coffee Corp.

Although complete information as to arrangements made for its manufacture locally was not available today, it is understood that the coffee machine will be made at the Apollo Magneto factory.

John K. Lenke, president of the Apollo Magneto Corp., could not be reached today for full details on the reported proposal to make the machine here. It is understood, however, that the machine at the Craft market is one of the first 10 which will be placed in stores throughout the country and which were made here.

The machine, now at the Craft market, is the first to be placed in any store and the others, it is expected, will be shipped in a few days to other markets in various other cities in the country.

Popularity Predicted
A local merchant, who inspected the machine, said he was convinced that it would be a popular device in any market and he felt certain that it would mean a substantial new industry that would employ many local people.

The machine roasts two pounds of coffee at one time and it is finished within 15 minutes. This allows the customer a chance to purchase freshly roasted coffee which will be finished while he is shopping in the store.

Information as to whether or not complete arrangements have been made with the Apollo Magneto Corporation for manufacturing of the machine, was not available today because of Mr. Lenke's absence from the local plant, but it was understood from a reliable source that such arrangements have been made.

Two glass-covered openings in the front of the machine show the coffee in its natural and its roasted stages. The other parts of the device are all encased in the cabinet which stands about five feet high.

Board of Health Opposes Pending Convention Move

There is now pending in the Constitutional Convention in Albany a new section 25 in the article on the judiciary which the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health is opposed to, and Tuesday evening the Board of Health, meeting at the city hall, went on record as also opposed to the proposed constitutional change.

The state committee in a communication read at the board meeting stated that it believed the adoption of the proposed change would have a very unfortunate effect on public health administration.

The section provides that anyone who is aggrieved by a decision, order or other determination made by an administrative officer, board, commission or department shall be entitled to a judicial review in supreme court. This would include not merely a review as to the law as at present but a full trial as to the facts.

Question of Competence
Such a constitutional provision, it was stated, would weaken the administration and rule-making powers which local boards of health have had since 1893, and would put into the courts questions on health questions in which the courts have no competence. It would subject boards of health to the expense of defending suits brought by persons who objected to quarantine or other measures for the protection of public health.

The objections to the proposed measure set forth by the state committee met with the approval of the local board, and the secretary was directed to address a letter of protest to the adoption of the measure to the presiding officer of the convention and also to Philip Elting, who is the delegate to the convention from Ulster county.

Reports of Officers
The report of the registrar showed that during July there had been 61 births and 52 deaths reported in the city, as compared with 56 births and 55 deaths in July of last year.

Reports were also received from Dr. Harold Clarke, milk inspector; Dr. Philip Foley, meat inspector; Sanitary Inspector Charles W. Shultis, and Plumbing Inspector Charles H. Gregory.

Roosevelt Aides Roll Up Smashing Triumph in Ohio

(By The Associated Press)

Roosevelt supporters rolled up a smashing senatorial primary victory in Ohio today and had triumph within their grasp in Arkansas but mounting returns from yesterday's Idaho election showed a third new deal senator slipping constantly behind in his vote for renomination.

The Ohio vote assured Democratic renomination of Senator Robert J. Bulkley who, with 7,488 precincts out of 8,601 reported, had tallied 428,419 votes to 176,523 for former Governor George White. Bulkley was praised by Mr. Roosevelt when the latter visited Marietta early last month on his way west.

Ohio Republicans, balloting in smaller numbers than the Democrats, apparently nominated Robert A. Taft, son of the late president, to run against Bulkley in November. In 7,816 precincts out of 8,601 Taft had 281,514 votes and Arthur H. Day, 203,487.

Arkansas Senator Hattie Caraway who like Bulkley received public commendation from the President, was slowly pulling ahead of her nearest opponent, Rep. John L. McClellan. The count for 1,523 precincts of 2,002 gave Caraway 76,351 and McClellan 71,540.

Because of President Roosevelt's show of preference for Senators Caraway and Bulkley the administration figured as an issue in their campaigns even though their opponents were by no means antagonistic to the White House.

In Idaho, however, the issue was clearly drawn. Senator James P. Pope, a 100 per cent Roosevelt man, was opposed in the Democratic primary by Rep. D. Worth Clark, who hammered home throughout his campaign that he was not an administration "yes man."

The vote in 512 of 802 precincts gave Clark 27,396 to 25,880 for Pope.

In addition to the straight out administration issue, other factors which entered into the Pope vote were his stand on reciprocal trade treaties, for which he was praised by Secretary Hull and his leadership in sponsoring New Deal farm policies in the Senate.

Short of an open endorsement by the President, Pope had substantial Washington backing. Not only did Hull write to him a few days before the primary but Postmaster General Farley spoke in his behalf.

Yesterday's fourth primary, in Nebraska, was devoid of a Senate contest. Gov. R. L. Cochran easily won Democratic renomination for a third term and Charles J. Warner was the Republican choice.

Dale Ashley Dies At Hospital; Hit By Car Last Night

Dale Ashley, 2-year-old son of Claude Ashley of Chichester, died early this morning at the Benedictine Hospital from injuries which he suffered Tuesday evening about 7:15 o'clock when the child was run over by a car operated by Cecil Gardner, 27, also of Chichester.

The accident happened on a private road which runs back of several houses in the village. According to the information given State Trooper Ray Dunn who made an investigation, the child was playing along the road near his home when the Gardner car entered the roadway. The car was driven over a knoll to enter the yard at the home of Harry Haas, who lives adjacent to the Ashley home. The child apparently was sitting in a small cart at the foot of the knoll and was not seen by the driver of the car.

Before the driver realized he had struck the child the front wheels passed over the boy. Gardner's brother, who was nearby, shouted a warning too late to save the child.

The injured child was taken to the office of Dr. Charles A. Quinn at Phoenixia and after attention there was brought to the Benedictine Hospital. Suffering from a fracture of the leg, two fractured ribs and a possible fracture of the skull, the child's condition was considered critical from the time he was admitted to the hospital and shortly after 2 o'clock he died.

A further investigation was being made today by Trooper Dunn. Pending completion of the investigation no charge was made against the driver of the car.

Mrs. F.D.R. Says She Couldn't See First Lady Saw No 'Angels'—She Was at Cottage Which Is Tree Encircled

Back to New York from the "promised land" today rode Father Divine, Harlem evangelist, and 2,000 devout disciples, eyes still shining with the wonder of their new paradise on the Hudson, the Associated Press reports.

Returning after a two-day boat excursion to the latest of Father Divine's 31 heavens, they expressed complete satisfaction with "Krum Elbow," the 500-acre tract on which they hope to establish a "self-contained" colony of 3,000 persons. The tract, sold to them by Howard Spencer, lies across the river from President Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate.

Commenting on this yesterday, Father Divine, "God" to many of Harlem's 300,000 negroes, said: "I couldn't have a better neighbor, could I?"

Reporters who met Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as she was driving in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., asked her if she had watched the pilgrims celebrate their arrival at "Krum Elbow."

Mrs. Roosevelt said: "I couldn't see them because I stay at the cottage (at the Hyde Park estate) when my husband is in Washington."

The Roosevelt home is plainly visible from "Krum Elbow," but the cottage is hidden by trees.

BPW Plans More Lights on Wurts, McEntee Streets

Board Also Authorizes Additional Lights in City Parks; New Beacons to Be Turned on Late This Week

New Speed Signs

One Hundred New Speed Limit Signs at City Entrances for Incoming Motorists

A better lighted thoroughfare at night for Wurts and McEntee streets was authorized by the board of public works at the regular monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon, when it was decided to replace the present eight 1,000 candlepower lights with 23 lamps of 600 candlepower. The board also authorized installation of additional lights in several of the city parks, and granted Superintendent Harvey Roosa an indefinite leave of absence.

Arthur L. Colligan and Edward M. Huben, of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, who were present at the meeting, stated that weather permitting, the new street lights on Broadway between Albany and West Street crossing would be turned on for the first time on Thursday or Friday evening, and that the second section between the Strand and the Broadway crossing would be ready to be turned on next Tuesday evening.

Wurts, McEntee Streets. Better street lighting was the topic that took up the greater share of the board's attention at the meeting, and it was brought out that Wurts and McEntee streets should be better lighted at night. These two streets carry off the 9-W traffic as it crosses over the Rondout Creek Bridge into the city, and it was stated that the present eight large lamps do not afford sufficient illumination at night.

That was the reason it was decided to replace the present 8 lights with 23 lamps of 600 candlepower each. These lights will be staggered. The increased charge for the change will be $510 annually.

Messrs Huben and Colligan inspected the present lighting system in the city parks and recommended additional lights in Lawton Park Hutton, Block and Barnum Parks at an increased charge of $199 per annum. The recommendations made were accepted by the board which authorized the lights installed.

The old Broadway fixtures will be used to carry the new lights to be installed on Wurts and McEntee streets it was stated.

New Speed Signs. The board also authorized the purchase of 100 new speed limit signs to be erected on the entrance streets to the city. These signs call attention to the speed limit of 25 miles an hour within the city limits.

Also 12 large entrance signs were ordered to be installed at the entrances to the city.

Spent $579,134.23. The financial report of the city's share in the local WPA program showed that the city spent the sum of $579,134.23 in cash and contributions since the program was inaugurated in the city.

It was also shown that at the present time there was $25,361.27 in cash left in the local WPA fund.

Toured the City. Before the board met, Mayor C. J. Heislman and Commissioners Kaplan, Egan and Emlack made a tour of inspection of the city.

City Engineer Norton said that the next work period of the WPA starts on Monday and the new project to be taken up would be a grading project of streets in the Third ward. It was expected to start the work of completing the rebuilding of Clifton avenue in September, he stated.

The city engineer said that while the WPA men were waiting for the next working period that the city had placed a force of 10 men at work getting the grounds ready at the municipal stadium so that grass seed could be planted. This seed, it was said, had to be planted before September 15. It is also planned to start pouring concrete at the stadium soon.

Street Work Planned. Acting Superintendent Chris Heislman announced that the street department would shortly begin work on the streets in the Sixth and Seventh wards.

Granted Leave. The board meeting in executive session at the close of the meeting granted Superintendent Harvey Roosa's request for an indefinite leave of absence until he had fully recovered from the effects of a major operation he recently underwent in a New York city hospital.

During his absence, Acting Superintendent Heislman will continue in charge.

The board then adjourned.

Form Reviews Security Gains

As the Social Security Act reaches its third anniversary on August 14, 1938, all of its 10 programs have been in operation in New York state during the past year, John Form, manager of the Social Security Board's office in Kingston, stated today. Some 5,500,000 workers in New York have applied for social security account numbers under the Federal old-age insurance program; more than 4,000,000 workers have earned credits toward unemployment benefits under the New York unemployment insurance law; almost 167,000 of the needy in the state are receiving Federal-State public assistance; and health and welfare services have been extended throughout the state.

The old-age insurance program is entirely under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government. Participation in the other nine programs calls for action by the States. These are public assistance; programs providing for financial aid to the needy aged, the needy blind, and to dependent children; services for maternal and child health; child welfare, and for crippled children; vocational rehabilitation; and public health. The Social Security Board administers the old-age insurance program and the Federal aspects of the programs for public assistance and unemployment compensation. The Federal aspects of the remaining programs are under the jurisdiction of other Federal agencies.

In New York state more than 106,600 needy old people, approximately 57,700 dependent children, and 2,500 blind people were receiving assistance in June, according to estimates of the Social Security Board based on past reports.

Boy Scouts Close Camp Saturday; 1938 Sets Record

The Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America, closed its 1938 summer camp last Saturday afternoon and the records which are now being made available shows that the summer of 1938 has exceeded all other records made by the Council in their camping program.

An increase of over 14 per cent in attendance at camp was made during the past summer. The summer also shows that boys were present for the following scout troops: 33 of Saugerties, 40 of Athens, 42 of Greenville, 43 of Cairo, 44 of Catskill, 47 of Catskill, 50 of Mapleton, 51 of Windham, 52 of Tannersville, 54 of Hunter, 61 of Shandaken, 62 of Pine Hill, 63 of West Shokan, 77 of Plattekill, 72 of Marlborough, 70 of Highland, 23 of Ellenville, 34 of Woodstock, 37 of West Saugerties, 35 of Saugerties, 26 of Port Ewen, 73 of Milton, 72 of New Paltz, 3, 6, 7, 11 and 12 of Kingston.

Each district of the Council participated and five of the seven districts showed an increase in the percentage at camp while two remained the same as previous year.

Closing Campfire

The closing campfire on Friday night was well attended by former campers, parents and friends of the boys, and after the singing of the many camp songs and various stunts by the different village groups the awards of scout rank were made as follows:

Los Angeles—It's the granddaddy of 'em all but there's plenty of life left in George C. Green's automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Green of Lamberville, N. J., arrived here in a 1904 "horseless carriage" after a 4,600 mile cross-continent vacation trip.

Green said the car, equipped with steering tiller, side crank, bulb horn and kerosene lamps, made a top speed of 30 miles an hour and averaged 30 miles to the gallon of gas.

Dead Shot
Fresno, Calif.—Hunt big game with arrows? Wing jackrabbits with a slingshot? Shucks, all Thomas Ross, ranch foreman, needs is a beer bottle.

Rose spied a coyote lurking near the ranch house. A beer bottle was handy so he let fire. The bottle clipped the animal, 50 feet away, behind the ear. It fell dead.

Open Sesame
Camden, N. J.—Federal agents, seeking the source of untaxed liquor, saw a passerby stamp three times on a manhole cover. The cover promptly opened, and an arm thrust out a bottle.

The agents also stamped three times.

They grabbed the arm—and its owner. Beneath the street they found nine gallons of illegal liquor.

In City Parks
The nature activities in the city parks are well under way under the direction of Miss Cecile Thompson. Miss Thompson, who was sent as a student to the New Hampshire Nature Camp by the Ulster County Garden Club last summer, is carrying on this nature program in affiliation with the Garden Club and the city.

The children belonging to the Nature Clubs are keeping nature scrap books containing labeled pictures and drawings of plants, wild and domesticated animals, conservation illustrations, prints of leaves and the actual specimens of wild flowers. Miss Thompson has made the identification list include some 40 birds and 45 wild flowers.

During the past two weeks the clubs have studied odd specimens and the formation of rocks and stones in the parks with relation to the natural rock beds. Fossil study has proved to be a favorite with the youngsters. Many fine specimens were found at Hasbrouck Park, and Friday afternoon found some Forsyth nature workers in search of the same on a field trip with their director.

Indian signs are being studied eagerly and several of the children have composed original Indian posters and messages. The reservations of Indian life have been covered in this project.

The enthusiasm from this new park activity has displayed itself in several original poems and stories composed by the youngsters. Some are liddle-like in the use of the hidden names of flowers, trees and animals, others show a frank appreciation for nature itself. Miss Gloria Boice

Winthrop, N. Y. (AP)—Proudest of all this year's garden trophies possessed by Mrs. Alma Covey, 87, is a hollyhock, standing 11 feet 5 1/2 inches tall. The blooms are dark red.

New Type of Dog Race
Muncie, Ind. (AP)—A raccoon in a gunnysack and about 100 keenoed dogs give Muncie sportsmen something new on which to bet.

It's a mile race along a "coon-scented trail." Trails are made by dragging a raccoon in a burlap sack over field terrain. Sharp angles are included for benefit of the "slow but sure" dogs. The faster hounds overrun the trails and lose time getting back on the scent.

About a block from where the "coon is chained, two judges stand at the sides of the trail and the dogs must pass between them to qualify for prizes.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH

Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It points from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities. Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can cost only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT
Cleans, Purifies
Like Magic
Put plate or bridge in 1/2 glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use.

THREE 'MUSTS' OF TRAFFIC SAFETY

Better law enforcement, plus better driver education, plus better highways, constitute the key to automobile accident prevention, according to the experts. And none of the three ingredients can be left out of this "safety stew" if we are to get results.

Better law enforcement doesn't mean tough policemen, and traffic judges who decree the maximum punishment on every possible occasion. It does mean modernized traffic codes, "fixless" tickets, a higher calibre of motor patrolmen in many instances, and judges and prosecutors who do their duty without fear or favor. It means a type of law enforcement whose principal purpose is not punishment, but accident prevention. Often some sound advice will do more to curb a reckless or thoughtless driver, than a fine.

Better driver education requires the scientific approach. Drivers must be appealed to on every possible occasion, by the written and spoken word. Messages must be made simple, vivid and memorable. The great majority of drivers involved in accidents can be made into safe car operators. In the case of the small percentage which is congenitally reckless, revocation of licenses seems to be the only cure.

Better highway construction is where the engineer comes in. When you build a road on which it is impossible to have a major accident, you've solved the traffic problem so far as that road is concerned. And modern planning makes it possible to come remarkably close to that ideal, through the use of under and over passes, traffic lane separation, and approaches which do not permit cars traveling in opposite directions to meet. The highway of the future will not only be faster than that of today, but immeasurably safer.

Accident prevention involves the long pull. It can't be achieved overnight. But properly directed and continuous campaigns, over a period of time, will turn the trick.

NO SELF-SUFFICIENCY

It becomes more apparent than ever how the world hangs together economically. The recovery of the United States for several years was helped by gradual recovery abroad. The American depression during the past year has tended to drag down foreign business.

America is the biggest economic unit in the world, and therefore the most powerful in its general effect, but Europe as a whole is no less powerful. When either is doing well, and buying more goods abroad, international trade is so stimulated that nearly all the nations get some benefit, as different parts of the body do from the circulation of the blood. Likewise stagnation in any considerable group tends to make hard times in all the other groups. The big peril comes when the whole world structure of commerce slips into a tailspin.

Every nation that is still a going concern naturally has some regenerative power. The United States, in spite of its troubles, probably has the greatest ability to come back of all the nations, and its recuperation can do the others most good. This is seen lately; with the beginning of recovery this summer, Europe and Latin-America already show the effect of the stimulus. Next year, barring war, we might all be doing a good deal better.

BLUE LIGHT FOR BUGS

There is more to light, as artists and insects know, than mere colors in a rainbow or a glass prism. Agricultural engineers in California are using pale blue light to save grapes, by luring leafhoppers to their death. They tried many colors and found that this particular blue had most attraction for the destructive hoppers, especially the lady-hoppers. The insects fly toward the light and are electrocuted by high tension wires. Different insects, the scientists find, are attracted by different colors. This is an easy, effective way to kill bad insects that fly by night. John D. Rockefeller, the elder, thirty years ago, although he stopped short of color experiments, was a pioneer in this field. Worried by moths that were destroying trees on his estate, he hung electric lights around the place, with little pans suspended from them and containing coal oil. The moths, lured by the light, flew against the bulbs and dropped into the oil. In the morning the pans would be full of them. It seems strange that his idea has not been carried farther.

TUB TALK

The family washing is up again for discussion. Let it be understood at once that this commentator has no particular convictions on the subject, and knows that any man who goes messing around a sudsy tub on wash day is likely to be put through the wringer. But it seems proper to record that the power laundry of this country, which claims to be a $625,000,000-a-year industry, and hopes to make it a billion, is picking "testing grounds" to demonstrate that: The laundry will do your washing for less than it costs you to do it at home. You really don't know how much it costs you to do your own washing. Laundry-washed clothes are whiter and wear better. The power laundry destroys germs and is therefore more sanitary.

Now we leave it to mother, in several million homes, to say what she thinks about anybody who says her washing is not "sanitary." And to father, to start figuring about the cost of soap and washing-powder and wear-and-tear and mother's time and one thing and another. Or vice versa.

When Hollywood has taught all the girls to be glamorous, what good will it do any of them? Dazed by so much glamor, the men may just go fishing.

The tragedy of progress continues, as city after city removes its last watering trough and hitching post.

Our dominant literature, like that of the ancient Egyptians, is pictorial. But the Nile cartoonists didn't have our comic touch.

Politics used to be the art of government. Now it's the art of getting public jobs.

They seem to have organized a Disunited States of Europe.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act. THE INVISIBLE EYEGLASSES

You may be hearing and reading about the new "invisible" eyeglasses or contact lenses as they are called. Perhaps you dislike wearing glasses with rims because you lose them at times, they get in the way, are dangerous when playing any game, or because they "spoil" your appearance. You may therefore get the idea that you would like to try these "contact" lenses.

They are called contact lenses because the outer portion rests upon or is in contact with the white part (not the centre or seeing part) of the eyeball. The centre or lens part is made up of transparent glass ground to suit or fit your particular type of defective eyesight—short-sightedness, long-sightedness, astigmatism (rays of light do not reach a single point), myopia (eyes moving from side to side) and aphakia (no lens whatever in eye).

Before purchasing the contact glasses you should have your physician refer you to one possessing the knowledge of your requirements and skilled in the fitting of these particular glasses. Dr. Alexander G. Fowell, Philadelphia, in the Pennsylvania Medical Journal, states:

"Contact glasses must rest on the sclera (eyeball) in such a manner that no pressure is produced. When too tight the eyeball becomes inflamed and there is a flow of tears (epiphora). If the fit is too loose, the salt solution with which the lens has been filled before placing it in the eye, leaks out and bubbles form, interfering with vision. The centre or corneal part must not rest on the centre of the eyeball."

The length of time that contact glasses can be worn varies with different individuals; some can wear them for only three hours, others as long as 8 hours at a time.

The actual fitting of contact glasses requires time, patience and experience. All patients should be first tested by the usual methods. The head is bent forward and the shell is grasped by a small rubber suction bulb and filled with salt solution. The lids are separated by thumb and forefinger of the left hand and shell inserted first beneath lower lid and then the upper lid. The bulb is then removed by releasing pressure. The patient soon learns how to do this.

A great disadvantage at the present time as Dr. Fowell points out is the price. Each lens is priced at thirty-five to fifty dollars depending on the correction and the type.

Death Of A Frightened Girl

THE trail had literally run out in sand drift when we pulled up before a high iron gateway through which showed a small, graveled court bordered with oleanders and backed by a low pink house smothered in wisteria. The gates were promptly opened to us by Polo, a small, irate, elderly woman in black, who remarked sourly: "Mademoiselle is late."

She offered a small square of cardboard to Hugo. "The gentleman waited for half an hour, but could stay no longer."

"O'Donnell!" said he. "Now, by all that's holy, what's he doing in these parts? Last time I saw him was six months ago in New York. I asked him then to look me up if he was ever on this side, and he said there wasn't a chance of it."

"What's his job?" I asked, and Hugo hesitated.

"Officially he sells bonds for a living, but actually he's a private detective, though I only found it out by chance. He's a dashed good fellow and I wish I hadn't missed him. I wonder where he's staying?"

"One has written on the other side," suggested Polo, her small beady eyes betraying a flicker of excitement, and he turned the card over, whistling as he scanned the penciled words on its reverse. "Here's mystery!" said he. "Now, what do you make of this? Meet me tonight, Palm Beach, without fail. Desperately urgent. Counting on you, O'D."

"You'll go, I suppose?" I asked. Hugo nodded. "We'll all go." Ada sniffed. "You can count me out," said she. "And if you take my advice, you'll stay at home, too, and have a quiet game of bridge. If the man's a detective it'll only turn to pistols and murders and hidden ciphers. You ought to know that, Hugo."

She looked from one to the other of us, but finding no response in our expression, shrugged resignedly and stumped into the house. That night, as we packed ourselves into the black Hispano, Hugo cool and immaculate in his shantung dinner-suit, I thought again what a handsome devil he was, with his dark, Spaniard's face more striking than ever above the white of his coat. But he was undoubtedly putting on weight. When I told him so, he snorted.

"It's muscle, my young friend, and any great hulking brute like yourself has no call to cast nasturtiums. Seriously, Archie, why go back to Antibes? It's a damn silly idea of yours to push off again so quickly. Tell this fellow Lubbock to take his ketch on to San Remo by himself."

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—While the wage-hour bill captured a large share of New Deal headlines, an almost forgotten act aiming at the same purpose has moved quietly into a foremost position among legislation for higher wages and shorter hours.

The Walsh-Healey act, patch-quilted together late one winter night in an almost windowless Capitol chamber, took final form about two years ago. Since then it has affected in some degree the wages and hours of an estimated 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 workers.

Its mechanics are comparatively simple. Any manufacturer or dealer wishing to sell goods to the government in quantities of $10,000 or more must agree to produce them with employees working a 40-hour week, without child or convict labor. Ultimately base wage standards also will be included.

The government's purchases are not great in comparison with those of private industry but government terms have a tendency to impose themselves on a whole industry.

The government once was, willy-nilly, a foremost patron of the so-called sweat-shop operators simply because by law it had to buy from the lowest bidder, and sweat-shop operators could underbid more reputable producers.

Price Patterns
THE 40-hour-week terms of the act went into effect at once. Wage minimums must be determined from time to time by the Secretary of Labor after arduous hearings.

The Department just now is engaged in determining a minimum wage to be required of steel companies supplying the government's needs. Sample difficulty:

United States Steel subsidiaries (Big Steel) in Pittsburgh now pay a minimum of 62½ cents an hour for common labor. In Johnstown, Pa., about 70 miles away, Bethlehem Steel (one of Little Steel) has a 57½ cent minimum. C.I.O. representatives stepped in to protest that if the Bethlehem rate is fixed as the "government minimum" it will undermine the wage agreement the union has with United States Steel.

However, Bethlehem officials protested that without this wage differential to offset certain disadvantages, Little Steel can not compete satisfactorily with Big Steel.

Seeking Expansion

SOME employers have complained that Walsh-Healey terms have generated labor unrest within their plants by requiring higher pay for workmen operating on government contracts than is paid elsewhere. It is the manufacturers' view that the wages of all, he is handicapped in bidding on other commercial jobs.

There is almost no limit to the application of the act, since the government buys everything from shoelaces to battleships. It has applied to a half billion dollars of government buying already and the Department is seeking an expansion of its field which will multiply its effect.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—I missed Les Farrington when he was in New York and that's too bad because Les doesn't get to New York very often. Why he doesn't I can't say, because he has a whole airline to play around with, and when a man with an entire fleet of ships at his disposal can't get from St. Paul to New York more than once or twice a year, that's something I am unable to figure out.

Unless, of course, he happens to dislike New York. And if that's true you can't hate him for that. You can't get mad at a guy for not liking a town.

It must have been six months ago that I wrote Les a letter and asked him to notify me the next time he got to town. I thought maybe we had some common ground, or maybe we could have some beef and cabbage together, maybe, or spend a pleasant afternoon talking. And he said he would. He wrote right back and said, "I'll call you the moment I check into my hotel."

But that moment wasn't a very happy one for me. That was the day I was laid by the heels by Ol' Man Bronchitis, and by the time I was back on the high road, he was back out there in St. Paul.

I'm certainly sorry I didn't get to see this tall (six-foot-five or is it six?) friendly fellow who's general traffic manager for Northwest Airlines. Traffic is his business. It's his baby, and I think you are going to be interested in a bit of philosophical reasoning he has put into his job. Farrington ought really to be an advertising man. For he reasons this way: "What is pleasing to the eye is pleasing to all of you."

So with this as a working basis he organized some 30 posts throughout the line and established local traffic executives. Only, he didn't choose Joe or Jim. With a crafty eye he chose 30 of the prettiest girls you ever saw. And he made them executives in their own right.

I KNOW about this because I was riding through Rockefeller Center this afternoon and ran smack into Loy Warwick, a Georgia boy who has tied his kite to this town. He said, "Son, I suppose I will have to introduce you to Karen Erickson. She's a farmer's daughter but don't let that fool you. She's the line's representative in New York, and Farrington's her boss."

I only had a couple of minutes, give or take a few seconds either way, but during this time I managed to possess myself of this vital data: Miss Erickson is not pretty. She is beautiful. She has raven hair and very dark eyes. She used to manage a hospital at Cando, North Dakota. Her home town is Edmore, N. D. She is single.

SCENE OF WARLIKE BORDER 'INCIDENTS'

This map, published by the Japanese newspaper Oka Mainichi, shows in detail the frontier area in the Far East where Russia and Japan have clashed. The newspaper claims it is a Russian general staff map placing disputed Changkufeng hill in Japanese territory. Line at right, broken by x's, purports to be the U. S. S. R. boundary as fixed by Russia; dotted line running up to and around Khasan Lake is said to be the official Chinese boundary between Manchoukuo and U. S. S. R.

Mrs. Carle Appreciates Conduct of Officials

Mrs. Jason Carle, mother of Jason Carle, Jr., who with Miss Marjorie Smith was involved in the kidnapping affair on June 24 for which Earl Young of Lebanon, Pa., has been declared responsible by officials, this morning expressed high praise for the manner in which the extended investigation had been handled by Sheriff Molyneux's office and also by the district attorney's office.

"Sheriff Molyneux and Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg, and also District Attorney Murray, acted like gentlemen," said Mrs. Carle. "They worked faithfully and sincerely and were gentlemanly in their dealings, not only with the families, but with the two young people directly concerned."

Miss Smith, Carle Tell of Photos

replied.

The Freeman representative asked also why Young should have said, as reported at the time, that he went to school with Miss Smith and had been watching her for a long time.

"Bum Lead"

"That was a bum lead," Carle said, "like he used in other places."

"What other places?" Carle was asked.

"In Albany—when he held up a gas station two days later."

"How do you account for the fact that, since Young rode in the car with you, assaulted Miss Smith and trussed you, then drove your car back to the city and tossed away your wallet, there were no fingerprints?"

"That," Carle said, "is up to the police. He would not amplify his answer."

"If you want any more information," Carle said, terminating his interview, "call the sheriff. I've nothing more to say."

Carle and Girl Identify Young

Koller said that Young never wore anything but a felt hat, which he kept pulled down low over his forehead, in order to hide a scar.

Tattoo Marks

Young's arms were covered with tattoo marks, to the shoulder, but these were not seen by Miss Smith, who said that he held a "black" gun in his right hand and kept his hand turned in such a way that she did not see marks of any kind.

At the time of Young's escape from the Lebanon jail May 18, this year, he stole a blued steel .38 calibre revolver. This might have been the "black" gun that Miss Smith and Carle referred to in their story of the attack and also the gun used two days later when a man, since positively identified as Young, held up an Albany gas station.

Miss Smith Affected

Sheriff Molyneux said this morning that one of the most convincing features, to him, of Miss Smith's identification of the pictures of Young as being those of the man they had been searching for, was the manner in which she was affected when first shown the pictures. He said that Miss Smith had shown remarkable composure and self-control on all the occasions in which she had conferred with himself and other investigating officers, but that when shown Young's picture Tuesday night she was visibly affected and with difficulty kept control of herself as she declared "that positively is the man."

Very Pleasant To Victims

Sheriff Koller, in commenting on the details of the attack on Miss Smith, said that they were similar to stories told of several other attacks Young had made. He said that Young, according to all reports, had been very pleasant to his victims, until he had succeeded in getting them in his power, when he had choked and attacked them. An exception was the last case, so far as known, when he assaulted and killed a 17-year-old South Dakota girl. Young's victims, also, were bound with cord and a quantity of cord was found in his automobile following his shooting by Hot Springs police.

Samples of Cord

Sheriff Molyneux is awaiting samples of the cord for comparison with the cord Young used in tying up Miss Smith and Carle on the night of June 24.

Board of Scientists

London, Aug. 10 (AP)—The creation of a Board of Scientists and Philosophers empowered to give or refuse permits for inventions likely to affect human life was proposed today by Professor Cyril Edwin Mitchinson Joad, distinguished British philosopher. "Science has given us powers fit for gods, yet we bring to their use the mentality of schoolboys and savages," the University of London professor told a teachers' summer school meeting.

Rotarians Hear Recital by Bard

Robert Bard of New York, composer and entertainer, who is spending the summer at Woodstock, was the guest artist at the noon meeting of Rotary today. Mr. Bard favored the Rotarians with four musical recitals which were received with evident appreciation.

Out-of-town guests today included George Schoep and Gordon Matthews, of Ridgefield Park, N. J. Several of the members had guests from the city.

Before adjournment President Pemberton reminded the members that the meeting next Wednesday would be at Camp Happyland. He asked members to be on hand at the Governor Clinton at noon, prepared to leave for the camp, also that as many as possible bring their cars in order to make sure that there would be plenty of transportation facilities.

There would be no program except such impromptu program as might be presented by the girls at the camp. Mr. Pemberton felt sure that the members would find much enjoyment in seeing the work that was being done at the camp and urged every member of the club to make an attempt to be present.

Col. Meagher will enter upon his duties as principal of the new Myron J. Michael School at the opening of the school term this fall, when approximately 350 eighth grade students and approximately 350 ninth grade students will register.

Red or Black Hair Does Not Mark Man's Ability

Hair doesn't seem to afford any index to genius or character. It is true that among the important personages history has turned up there have been a good many red-heads, but the number does not appear to be greater, proportionately, than the number of red-haired persons among the less important, declares a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

John Bunyan had red hair, for one. And Peter the Great's was red, and Swinburne's was red. James Russell Lowell's hair is described as having been ruddy or auburn, and Andrew Jackson's was "reddish sandy." Savanarola had reddish eyelashes, according to accounts of him, while Thomas Hobbes had reddish whiskers. The hair of U. S. Grant was a reddish brown and that of William the Silent was auburn. And Calvin Coolidge's hair was not far from red when he was a young man.

To show that red-haired persons have no monopoly of talent, here are the names of a few outstanding figures whose hair was black: Matthew Arnold, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, Stephen A. Douglas, William Hazlitt, Charles Lamb, John Marshall, Daniel Webster, John Greenleaf Whittier, John Paul Jones, Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Among those whose hair was classified as "dark" were Browning, Alexandre Dumas, Robert Louis Stevenson, Rossetti, and Mendelssohn. William Cullen Bryant's, Defoe's, Cromwell's, Longfellow's and Faragut's heads were brown. And the downright blondes have included (among many others) Keats and Thackeray.

Human Body Only Machine That Can Do Own Repairs

Your body is the most marvelous piece of mechanism on earth. It is the only machine capable of doing its own repairs. Not only does the body repair itself, but it also manufactures the various materials necessary for repair.

Can you imagine a broken brick mending itself without the aid of human hands? Yet that is what your body does when something goes wrong. All you have to do is to give it the necessary fuel—food and air—and your body will give you long and perfect service, observes a writer in Pearson's London Weekly.

As you know, the object of breathing fresh air is to maintain life. The oxygen we breathe mingles with the red corpuscles of the blood, purifies it, promotes energy, and builds up a natural resistance to germ infection.

When your body is not getting enough oxygen nature gives you a warning. Do you know what that warning is? A yawn!

You do not yawn because you are sleepy or bored. If you were living in the open air you would go to sleep without yawning. And you become bored with company because the room is stuffy, and so you yawn. The yawn is simply an SOS call from the body for more oxygen, and it is a subconscious call.

Rochester, N. Y. (AP).—Two years ago a salesman gave Miss Ellnor Potter, secretary in the purchasing department of an optical company, an elephant paperweight. Today Miss Potter exhibited more than 50 elephants, all of them "trumpeters" except two, and all of them presented to her by salesmen calling at the office.

'Sales Mean Jobs' Meeting Held at City Auditorium

Kingston business men met at the municipal auditorium Tuesday night and voted unanimously to give continued support to the recently launched "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign.

Mayor C. J. Holselman and George R. Reindel, chairman of the committee appointed by the mayor, addressed the meeting. It was announced that more than 125 business men had agreed to give their support to the campaign and had signed pledges to that effect.

In greeting those present the mayor said "I am sure that a great deal of profit, not only for the merchant but for the worker, will come out of a successful conclusion of this campaign."

Mr. Reindel told of the origin of the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, which was started as an organization movement by the Nash-Kelvinator Corp. He said that merchants would not be solicited for subscriptions, there would be no outside promoters employed and the committee's expenses would be met by a small profit from the sale of campaign posters.

The business men were told that the idea of the campaign was to induce the public to buy, thus increasing volume of sales, which in turn would necessitate employment of more help. He held that the present paralysis of buying on the part of the public was due not so much to lack of money as to fear of what might be coming, which causes them to hoard what they have.

Mr. Reindel said that one feature of the campaign, which has been approved by the committee, was a plan which would show how a dollar spent at a local store circulated.

Binghamton, N. Y. (AP).—A "whiffletree" is a tree that shakes all over. "Seabiscuit" is hardback, and a "lanyard" is a person who owns a house. At least those were the answers Ned Vargason received in a "baseball" quiz game at Lake Arrowhead Y.M.C.A. camp. Under the rules, players advanced a base when giving the proper answer. Another strike-out "Adam and Eve lived in an orchard."

COURT AND COCKPIT CLOTHES

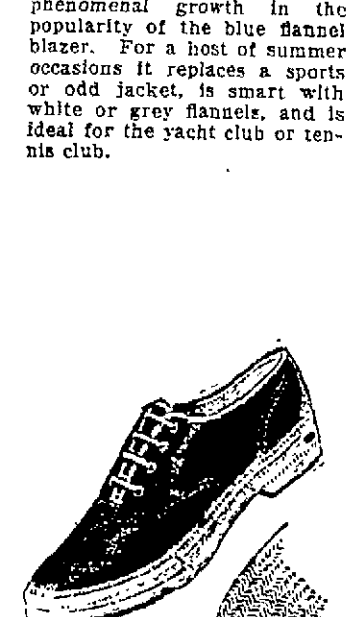

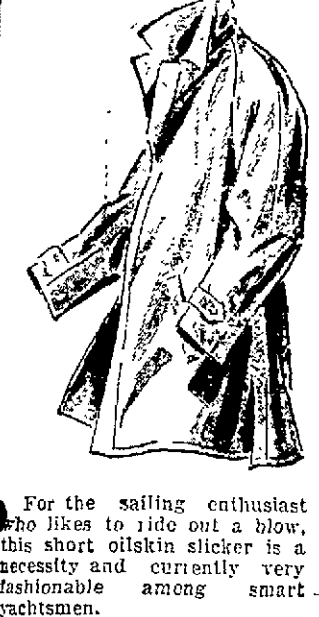

These are the days when those who can manage it are away from offices and cities. Vacations are seldom periods of rest in the ordinary sense of the word, but they do supply change even if at the cost of sunburns and diverse aches and pains from unaccustomed exercise. To be clad properly is important and a few suggestions for tennis and sailing enthusiasts comprise this week's talk.

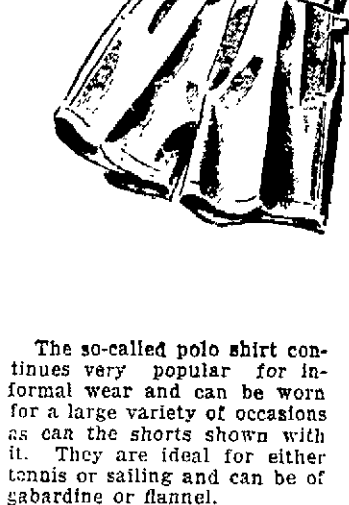

A linen cap, a crew neck tie, pullover, trousers of linen or sail cloth and red canvas shoes with crepe rubber soles comprise the outfit on the left. Whether he's waiting for a free court or the other member of his sailing party is not very clear and shows how useful and economical the exercise of good judgment in buying vacation clothes can be.

The other chap wears the "dingy suit" of blue denim with a midy style shirt and canvas espadrilles.

Recent years have seen a phenomenal growth in the popularity of the blue flannel blazer. For a host of summer occasions it replaces a sports or odd jacket, is smart with white or grey flannels, and is ideal for the yacht club or tennis club.

For the sailing enthusiast who likes to ride out a blow, this short oilskin slicker is a necessity and currently very fashionable among smart yachtsmen.

The so-called polo shirt continues very popular for informal wear and can be worn for a large variety of occasions as can the shorts shown with it. They are ideal for either tennis or sailing and can be of gabardine or flannel.

Here's a new shoe, reputedly the perfect yachting shoe as it refuses to slip on anything but greased lightning. The close-up shows the ingenious design which is cut into the rubber and accounts for its remarkable gripping qualities.

How to Select a Pipe

For fishing, hunting, etc., it is obvious that a bull-dog or a shell bird is in keeping. Curved pipes are proverbially frosid companions—either of briar, meerschaum or calabash.

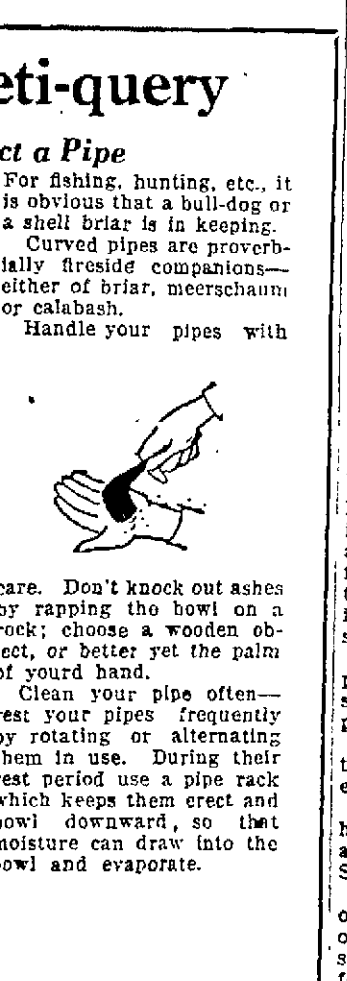

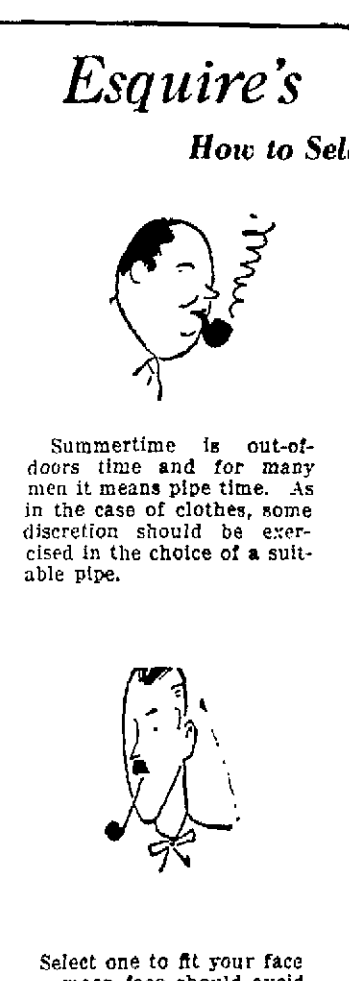

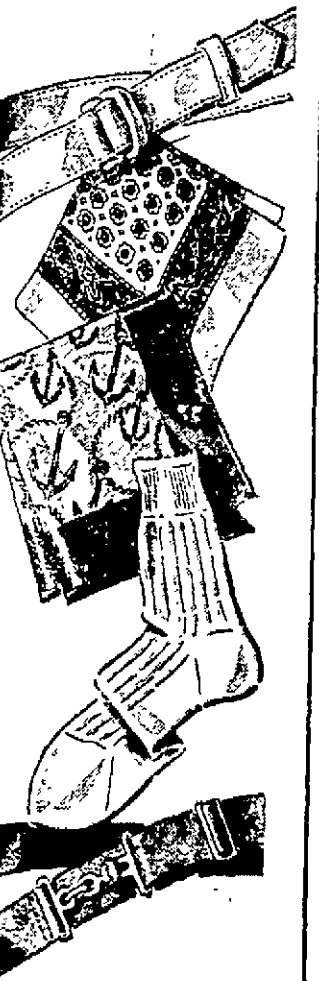

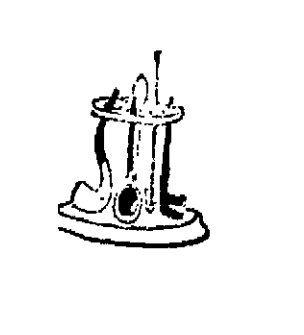

Handle your pipes with

Summertime is out-of-doors time and for many men it means pipe time. As in the case of clothes, some discretion should be exercised in the choice of a suitable pipe.

care. Don't knock out ashes by rapping the bowl on a rock; choose a wooden object, or better yet the palm of your hand.

Clean your pipe often—rest your pipes frequently by rotating or alternating them in use. During their rest period use a pipe rack which keeps them erect and bowl downward, so that moisture can draw into the bowl and evaporate.

Select one to fit your face—a moon face should avoid a thin stemmed pipe with small bowls; choose rather pipes of stocky design, short stems and heavy bowls. By the same token a portly man should select large bowls with heavy shanks, while men who are tall should smoke long, thin-stemmed small-to-medium bowls. The occasion also has a bearing on your selection.

Here we show a few important accessories. First a canvas belt with a nautical flavor. Then a couple of neckerchiefs which are worn appropriately with nearly all summer sports outfits. These socks are wool ribbed and ankle length or height—the perfect sock for active sports. And finally a fabric belt with an ingenious internal construction which makes it washable.

A DAM BEGINS, A TOWN IS BORN

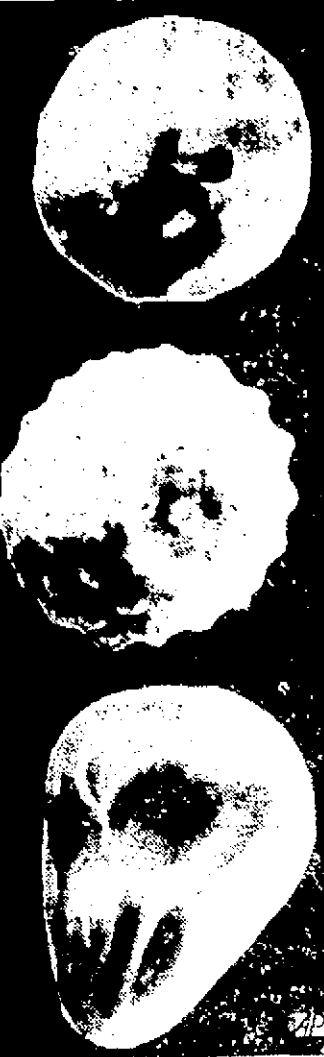

START OF SHASTA DAM on the Sacramento river, key unit of the $170,000,000 Central valley project, has "boomed" towns, resulted in construction of houses (above), for use of government officials, engineers, etc. The dam, which will harness flow of Sacramento, McCloud and Pit rivers, will be exceeded only by Boulder in height and by Grand Coulee in mass concrete. It is to be 560 feet high, three-fourths of a mile across at top, and will back up lake 35 miles long.

HERALD of busy days ahead, this sign proclaims nearness of Boom Town which springs up overnight as workers hurried to the Shasta dam site.

Bill Harris May Put Red Sox Back in Midst of Pennant Race

(By The Associated Press)

The youth-must-be-served idea baseball is a good one as far as it goes, but occasionally an old player comes along with all the answers needed to decide the pennant question.

Right now it's 35-year-old Bill Harris, just up from Buffalo, who may put the Boston Red Sox back to the middle of the American league scrap.

Harris, acquired last week to replace the younger Boston players, limited the Athletics to a hitless game and came up with a 16-4 victory in his first start yesterday.

Yesterday's victory came in a spot, for the league-leading Boston Yankees took a 4-2 lead from Washington when Chase set them down with a hit and drove in the winning run himself in the ninth inning.

Cleveland's second place Indians hit a double-header with the Browns losing the first game, 4-1, and winning the second 8-1. Those results put Boston 6 1/2 miles behind New York and 1 1/2 behind Cleveland.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs made the best gain when they whipped Cincinnati 9-0 and broke a tie for third place.

Pittsburgh's league leaders edged the St. Louis Cardinals when big Russ Bauers hurled a two-hit game, racing only 21 hits, and won it himself in the third when he singled and progressed home on Lee Hand's double and Lloyd Warner's hit. The second-place New York Giants snapped their losing streak to beat Boston 5-4 with a free-run seventh and some nice hitting by Dick Cofman.

The Detroit Tigers, led to four by Jack Knott, beat the Chicago White Sox 4-1. The Brooklyn Dodgers bamboozled out a 9-6 decision over the Phillies.

Flows After Eastern Title

Pracuse, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—Amateur golfers, headed by Coppers Chuck Kocsis and Ray Billows, banded practice around the Syracuse Yacht Country Club's fairways in preparation for the ninth annual yacht club invitation tournament.

436 Club Wins At Phenicia

The softball team of the 436 Club defeated Ray Dunn's Mountaineers 13 to 9 at Phenicia Monday night. The 436ers collected 18 hits off four pitchers as every man hit safely at least once.

State Trooper Dunn had to shift his line-up several times in an attempt to stop the local club but even his pitching couldn't halt the assault.

Ray "Possum" Avery, 436 pitching ace, held the Mountaineers to five hits and did not allow a single until the sixth inning. Errors marred his fine work in the fifth and sixth innings when the villagers scored all their runs. Avery's control was superb and he struck out 10 men.

Bob Boyle's Busters are ready to battle Steve Breitfeller's Floggers on Thursday night of this week at Barmann Park or Hasbrouck Park. The 436 Club is waiting for the Eichlers to make the next move.

Fistic Immortality Awaits Armstrong in Tonight's Fight

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Aug. 10 (AP)—The improbable Henry Armstrong, an intelligent little negro with spindly legs and a fantastic amount of stamina, will be shooting at fistic immortality when he meets Lou Ambers, the lightweight king, in a 15-round title fight tonight at the Polo Grounds.

If he beats Ambers as he is favored to do, Armstrong will hold the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight championships. He will, presumably, have proved himself the greatest fighting man in the world between the 118 pound bantamweight limit and 147 pounds, where the middleweights begin.

No fighter, black or white, has approached such a record before. Every time Henry pumps his tireless arms tonight he will be aiming at a target previously thought beyond any man's reach.

Offhand, the human thrashing-machine would appear to have assured tonight's victory when he gave Barney Ross, the aging welterweight champ, a fearful beating last May. That made Henry champion of bigger men than Ambers, according to the books. But Ambers has been stubborn, and Henry has to prove it.

Armstrong will find Lou harder to tire and to hit solidly than was Ross. Even Henry's backers concede it might take him 10 rounds to get Ambers "set up."

Ross, incidentally, has picked Armstrong to win.

The near unanimity of opinion on the outcome couldn't help hurt-

This evening at 6 o'clock, that long-awaited appearance of the Old Colonials against the Kingston police baseball team will come to pass at the Athletic Field.

"Everything is all set," said Tommy Davitt, big round-up man of the veterans, "and we're out to take over those Cops with flying colors."

"Oh, yeah!" remarked Lieutenant James V. Simpson, boss of the police team which recently shellacked the Newburgh Bluecoats 8-6. "We have another game with Newburgh down there, and want to win over the Colonials before making the trip down the river, just to show Chief Brown's men that we have what it takes."

With both teams on edge, a spicy grudge battle looms, and indications are that there will be plenty of excitement at the Athletic Field.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman postponed his vacation just to be on hand to throw out the first ball for the game, proceeds of which will go to his Christmas Cheer Fund.

Starting battery for the police will be Freddie Stoudt, ace hurler, and Len Relyea behind the plate. For the Colonials it will be Judge Bernard A. Culloton and Jack Robins, the battery that brought home the colors in many a game at the old fair grounds.

The police have no extra pitchers, but the veterans have Dick Williams, Bill McAuliffe and Eddie Scherer to call upon.

Coach Artie Rice expects the Colonials to show some real hitting power. "If the cane and wheel-chair boys do like they did in practice Saturday," said Artie, "the Cops will need plenty of extras to chase the lost balls."

In the workout last week-end, Jack Robins, Jimmy Morgan, Leo Fitzgerald, Bill Schwab, Dutch Glaser, Bud Bulliton and Kid Moore punished the horseshoe plenty.

Reserves for the Colonials will be Harold Johnson, Joe Hoffman, Hank Cragan, Jim Voelker, Fritz Bruhn, Charlie Lay and Manager Tommy Davitt.

The police will have all of their players on deck.

Officialing in big league style will be the two City Baseball League umpires, Dick Dulin and Bill "Pie" Murphy; also Alderman-at-Large John Schwenk and City Judge Matthew V. Cahill.

Knights and Hedricks Play In City League Thursday

Patty Berg Leads Western Tourney

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP)—It was Patty Berg of Minneapolis by seven "lengths" as the field in the women's western golf derby headed into the final 36 holes today.

The chunky, freckle-faced Minnesota star, with a 36 hole total of 151 strokes, was seven shots ahead of her closest rival, Ellamae Williams of Chicago, at the halfway mark of the longest medal play tournament sanctioned for women in this country. Ten strokes off the blistering pace was Miss Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., who for the last three years won the event while Miss Berg finished in second place. In third place at 159 strokes was Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City.

The league's Gold Sox should stage a comeback in the last half what with Charlie Tanno, Benjamin, Astoria and Jerry Gallagher being listed on the K. of C. batting order. The Knights wound up in the cellar but look like pennant contenders this half. Manager Baumgarten has signed up Bob Enlund, hard-hitting outfielder, and Vicky Ean, lanky hurler, of the New Palitz villagers. Tom McManus and Walt Mathews are other new faces listed on the larger king's roster for second-half duty. Freddie Stoudt, who will twirl tonight for the local policemen, will stage a City League comeback with Hedricks during the last half. Game time tomorrow is listed at 6:15.

Stammers Center Of Interest At Rye

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—Kay Stammers, the English girl known to tennis crowds as much for her beauty as for her ability to wield a racket, became the center of interest today as the eastern grass courts championships moved into their fifth day, far behind schedule.

There still was considerable excitement, however, about yesterday's unexpected elimination of Sidney Wood, the former Davis Cup star, by Leonard Hartman of New York.

Wood, making a fine comeback this year, yielded to the unexpected New Yorker by 6-4, 2-6, 8-6. The slippery court apparently gave Wood trouble.

Bobby Riggs coasted through his first round match to beat Chester Murphy of Chicago, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

Miss Stammers, who is planning a serious bid for the national singles crown, heads the seeded list for the women's doubles tourney here, which was to get under way today. She is paired with Margaret Lumb.

The world doubles champions, Don Budge and Gene Mako, head the men's doubles field. The second-ranking team of Wood and Joe Hunt looks like the only one that might give them trouble.

Except for Wood, all the singles favorites came through yesterday's matches. Mako routed John Foreman of Chapel Hill, N. C., 6-1, 6-2. Frank Parker and Wilmer Allison finished off Monday's interrupted matches, while Hunt and Charles Hare, the former British Davis Cupper, also came through.

Mrs. Pabayan and Mrs. John Van Ryn reached the third round of women's singles while Barbara Winslow of Hollywood, Calif., conquered Margaret Osborne of San Francisco to gain the quarter final.

Jersey City, N. J.—Billy Beaulieu, 138, Jersey City, stopped Charley Burns, 138, Johnstown, Pa. (4).

Park Will Hold Amateur Nights

Amateur night programs will be included in the regular community night affairs at Hasbrouck Park every Friday night for the remainder of the park season. It was announced yesterday by the directors at the park.

Through the cooperation of the city administration, an splendid outdoor natural theatre has been provided for the community night programs in back of the park pavilion. Two sides of the natural theatre afford space for those who desire to witness the program from their cars, while the natural bowl affords ample seating space for the audience. It was estimated that 10,000 people can be seated in the amphitheatre and all are able to see and hear the program presented on the platform.

The amateur night programs are designed to give an opportunity to all with ability in music, dancing and other forms of entertainment to present their talents to the park audiences under favorable conditions.

Each week a winner will be chosen by a group of selected judges, and these winners will appear at the final community night program for competition for prizes which will be announced later.

The directors also announced that the amateur contest is not limited only to amateurs at the park, but is open to all amateur entertainers in the city.

Those who are interested in being included in the amateur competition are invited to call the directors at the park and arrange for an audition from the platform.

Spy-Detection Is Taught As Part of Soviet Policy

Moscow (AP)—Detection of spies is being taught to red army officers and political commissars, the latter the communist party's "eyes and ears" among the troops.

A new course in their training classes is entitled, "Methods of the struggle against spying, wrecking diversion and terrorist activity of the intelligence services of capitalist countries and of their Trotskyite-Bukharin agents."

Another indication of the interest in secret police activities was the announcement that a detachment of troops in Middle Asia would climb, as part of their training, a mountain in Tajikistan named "Mount Red Intelligence Service."

Reminder of Early Days
The following account, from "Readings in Indiana History," gives an idea of the conditions of the early times: "In 1817 there were no railroads, no canals west of the Allegheny mountains. There was no telegraph; fire was struck by the flint and steel; there were forests instead of cultivated fields; the shovel-plow was the only cultivator; there were no bridges. The only means of travel was by horseback, the husband mounted before on the saddle, with one to three of the youngest children in his arms; the wife, with a spread cover reaching to the tail of the horse, seated behind, with the balance of the children, unable to walk, on her lap."

Find Grant Signed
By Patrick Henry
LOUISVILLE, KY.—Documents and land grants signed by Patrick Henry and three other Virginia governors more than 100 years ago were unearthed in the courthouse recently by WPA employees engaged in restoring and re-cataloging Jefferson county records.

The grant signed by Patrick Henry was dated April 1, 1785. Others were signed by Thomas Jefferson in 1779, Edmund Randolph in 1787, and Henry Lee in 1792.

Each of the documents was well preserved and the ink-writing still clear.

Final Dividend

Charles McGraw, a well-known one-time public enemy No. 2, who was shot by Baltimore police, is reported to have received a final dividend of $100,000. But his final dividend was a place he will occupy the rest of his life because of possible murder charges confronting him.

McGrath Resigns As Works Clerk

Highland, Aug. 10.—At the meeting of the trustees of the Centralized school system held Friday evening the resignation of George McGrath, clerk of the work on the new school, was tendered through H. A. Lent, associate counsel. Mr. McGrath was forced to resign owing to illness, and will be able to accept a less strenuous post as resident engineer inspector with PWA, but said to consider himself at the call of the board any time they thought his presence necessary.

The clerk was asked to write Mr. McGrath a letter of appreciation for service rendered. This motion of Philip T. Schantz was seconded by A. W. Lent and carried.

Messrs. Bealer and Brownmuller appeared before the board as applicants for the job. Decision on this was reserved until a later date.

The following decisions were rendered: That the bid bond on the original bid for alterations be returned to Mr. Ossie. That the exhaust ventilation in the nurse's room pass into the toilet ducts and not into the corridor. That the architect prepare three sketches covering the treatment of the alcove in the kindergarten room:

A—glass brick; B—glass; C—combination of the two.

Postmastership Remains Within Family in Texas
Maypearl, Tex. (AP)—Whether the government needs a Republican or a Democratic postmaster the Hoosers can qualify—and have been doing it for 29 years.

The Democrats again came to power with the Roosevelts but party members in Maypearl figured there would be nothing gained if they asked for the appointment of a Democrat, as Mrs. Hooser would have been the choice, so Hooser has been held over.
